

RealFlow Renderkit Educational Program

Thank you for your interest in the RealFlow Renderkit Educational Program. Our aim is to give students, teachers and educational institutions access to the RealFlow software at an affordable price, and help support the professional RealFlow users of the future.

- A RealFlow Renderkit educational license costs 195€ / US$245 per year.
- Educational licenses are for learning and teaching purposes only; they cannot be used on commercial projects.
- Student licenses are for one year only; faculty licenses are permanent.
- Educational licenses are not valid for government or commercial research, even within an educational institution.
- An educational license is valid for one machine, irrespective of how many cores it has. Students may install the educational license on their laptops.
- An educational license does not grant you free upgrades to newer versions of the RealFlow Renderkit. When a new major version of the RealFlow Renderkit is released you will need to buy an upgrade if you wish to use the latest release version (and are still eligible for the educational program).
- A compulsory additional 18% VAT/ Tax charge may apply if the purchaser is based in an EU country.
- Please see www.realflow.com for information about supported operating systems and plug-ins.
- The software is download-only. The manual is also available for download.
